

QUIZ TIME

lec. 7

INTRODUCTION TO DENTISTRY

لجنة
طب الأسنان
جامعة مؤتة

Endodontics is the dental specialty concerned with:

- a. Replacement of missing teeth using prostheses
- b. Prevention, diagnosis, and treatment of the dental pulp and periradicular tissues
- c. Correction of malpositioned teeth
- d. Treatment of periodontal pockets and gingival diseases

Ans:b

Which of the following procedures is included in endodontic treatment?

- a. Teeth whitening
- b. Pulp capping, pulpotomy, and root canal treatment
- c. Scaling and root planing
- d. Orthodontic tooth movement

Ans:b

Which of the following is considered a form of surgical endodontics?

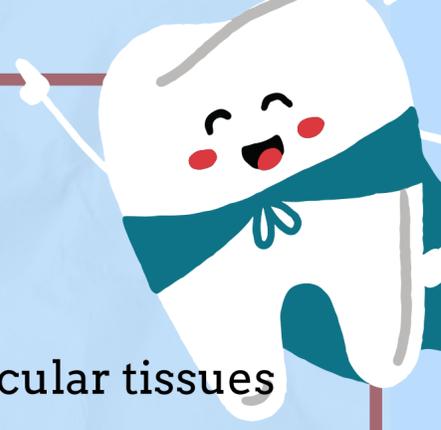

- a. Indirect pulp capping
- b. Root canal obturation
- c. Apicectomy or hemisection
- d. Scaling and curettage

Ans:c

What is the main purpose of root canal treatment?

- a. To whiten the tooth
- b. To achieve asepsis of the root canal system and/or disinfect it adequately
- c. To protect the pulp without removing it
- d. To replace missing teeth

Ans:b

The apical constriction is usually located at what distance from the radiographic apex?

- a. 0.5–2 mm
- b. 3–5 mm
- c. 5–7 mm
- d. Exactly at the radiographic apex

Ans:a

Which of the following is NOT a desired property of a root canal filling material?

- a. Biocompatible
- b. Dimensionally stable
- c. Supports bacterial growth
- d. Radiopaque

Ans:c

عد إلى الله
والله سينولني
مافي قلبك

لجنة
طب الأسنان
جامعة مؤتة

